ELLYS – EUROPEAN LABOUR LAW YOUNG SCHOLARS

CALL FOR PAPERS

ELLYS, the European subsection of the ISLSSL Young Scholars Section, is launching a call for papers for the Young Scholars Session which will take place in Collegium Maximum of the Charles University during the afternoon of 20th September 2017, within the ISLSSL XII European Regional Congress (Prague, 20th – 22nd September), organized by the Czech Society for Labour Law and Social Security Law.

This session is the follow-up and continuation of the successful initiative during the last European Regional Conference of the ISLSSL in Dublin in 2014. This year's meeting, as it is part of the Prague Conference, will also deal with Organization, productivity and well-being at work. The theme of the Young Scholars' session will be: "Organization, Productivity and Well-Being at work. National Reports on Changes in Labour and Social Security Law from 2014 to 2017". We therefore invite young scholars from national associations affiliated with ISLSSL to express their interest in submitting a paper dealing with national developments in the field of organization, productivity and well-being at work to their respective national association as soon as possible. The size of the papers will be limited to 50.000 characters, spaces included, as a maximum. Depending on the number and quality of the papers, the option to collect the papers in a publication will be considered.

As each country will (in principle) be covered by one report, the national associations will decide which young scholar(s) (according to the rules of the respective national association) will be presenting the report, which may be prepared by several young scholars. The allocated time for the presentation will be communicated before September, according to the number of papers presented. In any case, sufficient time will be left for discussion in the session.

The Presidents, General Secretaries and/or members of the Executive Committees of National Associations are kindly requested to communicate names and e-mails of the appointed rapporteurs to the ELLYS Coordinators Maciej Łaga (e-mail address maciej.laga@prawo.ug.edu.pl), Nicola Gundt (e-mail address nicola.gundt@maastrichtuniversity.nl) and José María Miranda Boto (e-mail address josemaria.miranda@usc.es), putting in copy Stefano Bellomo (stefanobellomo@mmba.it), Jakub Tomšej (tomsej@prf.cuni.cz) and Kristina Koldinská (koldinsk@prf.cuni.cz) within the deadline of 31th of next July.

In order to participate at the Young Scholars Section, registration at the ISLSSL XII European Regional Congress is mandatory. We would like to remind everyone that in case of registration before 30th June 2017, you can benefit from the discounted „early bird“ rate.
